Who we are:

An interdisciplinary society of dedicated researchers striving to solve current public health challenges. We are united by our passion for innovation and community impact, we collaborate to tackle today's most pressing health challenges. Embracing the One Health approach, we recognize that the well-being of humans, animals, and the environment is interconnected, and we believe that only through a comprehensive, collaborative perspective can we achieve sustainable solutions. With a commitment to strong mentorship and continuous learning, we empower our members to explore novel strategies, advance public health and foster resilience within the communities we serve.

Vision:

To become the leading force interdisciplinary Group in rural setting, uniting experts from diverse fields to catalyze transformative, evidence-based health solutions.

Mission:

-To establish a dynamic, interdisciplinary platform in a rural setting that nurtures strong and competent researchers and leaders, equipping them with evidence-based tools and robust mentorship to solve community health challenges through innovative One Health strategies.

-To foster an environment of collaborative inquiry that ultimately strengthens public well-being on a global scale
